DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 4, 2008 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 2-7 and 12-13 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on September 14, 2007.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ishii et al (JP 2002-008209). As per claim 14, Ishii et al shows in figures 1 and 14 a perpendicular magnetic recording head. Figure 1 of Ishii et al also shows a yoke layer 13b disposed so as to be recessed from a recording-medium-facing surface facing a recording medium moving in a predetermined direction of medium movement. Figure 1 also shows a pole layer 13a disposed on a medium-outgoing side of the yoke layer 13b in the direction of medium movement so as to be exposed to the recording-medium-facing surface.

The pole layer 13a includes a pole uniform width portion having a uniform width determining a recording track width of the recording medium and a pole widening portion having a larger width than the width of the pole uniform width portion. The pole uniform width portion is closer to the recording-medium-facing surface relative to the pole widening portion.

The yoke layer 13b includes a connecting portion having a uniform width larger than the width of the pole uniform width portion and smaller than the width of the pole widening portion. Yoke layer 13b also includes a yoke widening portion having a width larger than the width of the connecting portion where the connecting portion is closer to the recording-medium-facing surface relative to the yoke widening portion. Figure 1 additionally shows a portion of the pole widening portion in the pole layer 13a being connected to at least a portion of the connecting portion of the yoke layer.

As per claim 15, figure 1 shows a recess disposed in a portion of the yoke layer away from where the yoke layer is connected to the pole layer.

Ishii et al, however, is silent as to a perpendicular head, per se.

Sueoka discloses a perpendicular head.

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the head of Ishii et al so that it was a perpendicular head as taught by Sueoka. The rationale is as follows: one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have been motivated to modify a head so that it was a perpendicular head to solve "the problems of pulse noise caused by the edge of the auxiliary magnetic pole without sacrificing magnetic path efficiency and high frequency characteristics." See column 2, lines 5-10 of Sueoka.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 14 and 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
